Donnelly's Recent Discovery

The Washington Historical society, with which President traffield was associated intiniately, and whose membership includes the culture and intellect of the capital, invited ignatius Donnelly to deliver an address last Monday evening in the studio of Miss Ransom, the artist, on the subject of the clipher history imbedded in the plays of Shakespeare. The andience is a select one, invited especially Miss Cleveland, who has been for many years a believer in the Bacocian theory of authorship, has taken great interest in Mr Donnelly's discovery of the cipher, and last Thursday invited him to call at the White house and explain it to her Miss Cleveland and the ladies of the White house and explain it to her Miss Cleveland and the ladies of the White house and explain it to her Miss Cleveland and the ladies of the White house and explain it to her Miss Cleveland and the ladies of the White house and explain it to her Miss Cleveland are with probably be present. The subject is creating a great deal of interest, and Mr Donnelly is besought by Shakespeareau scholars from all over the land for a speedy exposition of the results of his studies. He is quietly pursuing his work and expresses satisfaction at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make, which at the progress he is able to make the progress he

In Hally and elsewin re the common people do not highly or permanently value scentless flowers. A flower without fragrance is to them almost a dead flower. We put the question to a troop of Loglish children coming from a wood laden with spolls, "What makes you like prim roses". The scent of them, was the answer A hittle further along the lane came another troop and the juestion was repeated. This time the answer was, "Becau e they smell so nice." No flower has been there widely reverenced than the unassuning sweet basit the Rastico adorato of Sicilian songs, the Tuissi plant of In dia, where it is well nigh worelinged in the house of every pious Hindu. The scale is graduated thus. The flower which has no smell is pucked in play, but left remores y to wither as children leave their daisy chains, he flower which has a purely sweet and fresh perfume is arranged in nosegars, set in water, praised and enjoyed for the day, the flower which has a stant of spice and incense and aromate gums bears off hombre carreely less than driving.

The Indians have commenced their annual travels up and down the river trail to and from the Moses reservation. Many of the river Indians propose becoming cursons of the United States, and thence bolding on to their ranches on the river fiasts and at Lake Chelan, in preference to removing to the Colville reservation, at least they talk that way at present. They do not like the thought of removing from their annual reast they grounds. Some of them are making good beaway in agricultural pursuits, and others have large herds of horses and cattle.

No doubt it would point out the effectiveness of the declaration as a measure of party suicide, and then it would quartly was to question that concerns our probabilition by the quite as much as it does us. If he thinks the hiptor traffe is to be alcated by keeping the democratic party in power, or whether be thinks so or not, it is the right of himself and those who think with him to pursue such a course as will aid the democratic party, and to adhero to that course till they are satisfied with its results. We shall dissent from then judg-ment, but shall not dispute their right

We do not think, however that so great a number will refuse to tole longer with the re-publican parts if it do not put prohibition into its national platform. Most will see that to be this would not only invite overwhelming defeat but would in its results, and great strength to the inpur power. Still, it is a logother possible that there will be enough in 1885 to bring about the result of 1884. This may go on tall it is proven, as it will be demonstrated at last, that as effort to "buildoze" the republican party into as enough a managed in republican party and an impracticable and succidal effort, it will never succeed. Meantime, the leptor interests of the country, which might by better judgment be held under salutary check, will flourish greatly under the protection of the democratic party, the design observed and the democratic party,

THE STAGE

"CIONA LOPIEN —A fan house green I the first production of "Storm Beaten" by the Mo-Kee Eankin company at the New Market disaster last evening. The play is a dragatization by himself of Robert Buchman's interesting story "God and the Man," and a very skillful one at that. The play wright has seized upon the lead ing modernts, the most striking situations in the story and has weren them into a series of dra-matic pictures that cannot fall to produce the make pertures that cannot fall to produce the most intense interest, and given as they are with the phenomenal cast of this moutantly strong company they form a well rounded symmetric algorithm of the produce of work of which the author may be justly proud.

Notwithstanding the sulien bres of hate and oalped frequence, and the clouding of a going girls life the first three acts are pastoral in their sliping products. What with the willage pastoral in their sliping first the first willage pastoral in their mess—what with the form garden and the old manor and the blind Portian prescher, there is quite a hreat of rural England in it all. This comes the shorp transition to the perils of the frequine of the Fareau pole, that field of need as Bachanan himself so graphically expresses it, frangig with quick shaip exciting action, then the return to the learchall, yet sorrowful scene of the early modens of the party and the culmination of creation in the rounts, and his delineation of the burying of the fend of many pasis and the reconclination of old enemics. SOME MATTERS OF STATE From an Oregoniau, Stail Correspondent We dag from the State Capital

Satura, 20th of April Respecting the spin torul vacancy fros mani-Moody says nothing further than to express bis dissatisfaction at the conduct of the legislature in shirking its most serious duty and putting it upon him. He listens patiently (and a good deal of putience it requires) to all sorts of views. of all sorts of people, but is himself sitest. He has alread, received enough letters of advice to make a volume, and nearly every politician in the state has found time to tender his suggestions in person. If the governor has made up his mind to appoint a senator, or to reconvenent to the state of the second state of the second he one of which the pullic, which I represented in a manner, most wanted to hear. I left with the distinct impression, based mostly upon in stinct and not upon instruing he said, that he

The silication is indeed, an emberrossing one of the document of the most time in office only till the meeting of the next legislature, when there would be the chance of a fermicrat getting the place. In the present situation of affairs at Washington, with a democratic administration, a democratic house and the larger publicant senate, it is highly important from a partisant point of view, that the exist senation? and, from a partisan point of view, that the existant vacancy should be filled by a republican for the full term of six years. And this neces sity of course calls for an extra legislative sea sion which could fall the term without question As a republican, to earn without question As a republican, to earnor Moody would, per haps, like to see the matter fixed in this way, but his desures as a party man may properly ordings be earthogy and bit cuty as governot be quite another. There are, indeed, good ellough tusiness reasons for an extra session the matter than a large man and the contraction. haves the statute books without penalty for cost. The State Agricultural college at Corval cost The State Approximat college at Corval las, too, is left by an obsently in the recent lag islation, without funds for the coming two years and there is lear that it must suppoid an less their terms of the coming two years and there is lear that it must suppoid an less their terms and the less that the session. And yet it may be doubted if these matters alone would be considered important enough to warrant an extra session. However honest the governor's notive in calling such a session might be, such a course would be looked upon by the contry as purely partisan. It would be taken as a republican scheme by the use of state athority casually in their hands, to make sure of a republican senator for the full senatorial term. It would be taken, further, as a confession on the part of the republicane that they expected the next general election to go against them and the offect might be a party calamity with all the considerations in view it may be doubted if it would be good party pointy to call an extra session. There is a good deal of risk in either course the governor may adopt.

The cost of an extra session would not be so much as people seem to think Ordinary sessions cost $35,000 and the last, through the extraordinary charges of $3000 for the Burch-Langhim contest and $2000 for extra clerks cost $35,000. This, for a forty-days session and counting all the teams of expense. An extra session tould last only twenty days and its action would be limited doubtless to a few matters. There would be limited printing, little clerk life, small consumption of stationery, less salaries—in short all the charges except infleage would be cut down at least one-half I do not think an extra session could cost in re than $15,000, and perhaps not so much. As to how towernor Moody will look at these considera to mand others which may come into his view of the case, I can only guess as other people can to send others which may come into his view of the case, I can only guess as other people can or wait as we all most.

Having been out of Portland only two days add only having gone fifty unles, I cannot speak for the country at large, but so far as I have talked with men of both parties I find the impression that that there will be an extra session probabily in september or October. There is, I where, a general feeding among republicans that this is the proper way out of a situation which all admit to be had. Democratis have but little to say and are in a state of high good himor over the prospect of party advantage which the situation infords. It is a general great most list a most proper way the construct the proper performance of it e work in hand in the hope of making the assisting the construction of the significant of the significant admitishment. This been suggested that they all resign, or all remain away without resigning—these and other schemes are common subjects of neight or hood discussion. I have not yet all resign, or all ramain away without resigning—these and other schemes are common subjects of neight orboad discussion. I have not yet been able to trace any of these propositions to a scorce which could give it authority or consideration, but they are in the any and the democratic masses certainty expect some such action from their representatives. Such a course, I believe, would be the particular traditional bunder to save the republican party in this state from the consequences of its excussless folly at scient two mouths ago.

I hear a good deal of speculation as to whether o not the legislature, if it should be re-convened, could agree upon a man, and the popular talk in the valley gight this matter in were serious question. An attempt it degree in whether the matter was left of second, I think, and not perhaps in failure to elect, but in a discord that would "apilit the party wide open." It is not use to argue what ought to be, no use to say that the valley should not be leaded of Portsiand. Retter left the facts of the situation be kept for mind, let the situation be acted upon as it is. The county, I find from balking with men who represent let he facts of the situation be got in mind, let the situation be acted upon as it is. The country, I find from talking with men who tappresent the spirit of many sections, objects not to a Portland from the politic properties of a long-resident citizent of Politic country, whom I talked with yesterday. "We object," he said, "against having things 'sixed' in Furthmil, and then ramined down our threats. As to candidates, we have no fear of a Por land man, but we will not have a man who represents a machine. We prefer, of course a man of our own people, but we would be satisfied with anylody who commands the respect of all, and who could succeed arough the favor of all and not as a triumph of minagement." If there is to be harmony in a session which the governor may call, the slate, as it stand when the legislature adjourned, or rather when it fell to pieces, inust be wiped clean. If will not be necessary to "barralor" any body out of the contest. The power to do this will be resented. Let nobody tree his "claims," for nobody has any, let nobody be tarred let there be free way to select a man who will wheely represent the people and the fary

In a moment of wrath, the man gens of the torvalls college resigned the advantages of the same agricultural college fund, and when their rage round they were sorry for it. The paor is of Benton county, who got some advantage and I be the first the country of the school, were sorry, the full is me pride in this school, were sorry, the III this state of initial all parties came together and a plan mutually satisfactory was arranged. The proof to agree do to put up a building on state ground to cost $25,000, to draw the state agree it is urall offere fund the trustees agreed to give to the new school their furniture, apparatus, etc., etc., for a consideration. The plan was, in brief, to move cut of the old school under church man for a consideration. The plan was, in brief, to more cut of the old school under church man agement and into the new under state immagement, the understanding being that the old school should continue to draw the agricultural fund till the new should be ready to open its doors two years hence, ice valing to the pluta. A bill embodying these features or thought to embody them, was prepared and got through the legislature. But as the law stands, the secretary of state, can indo no authority to pay to the old college during the intermediate two years, the fund which in the beginning it resigned. Nor can subody else find it. The trustees of the old school "let go," and the new, has not yet "caught on." The amount is not great, between fise and six thousand dollars, but without it the college cannot live and there is serious danger that it will have to close fis doors. Secretary Enrhart has been urged to pay the money over and to look to a future legislature for approvel, but this, of course, he cannot be Wiser than it e law. He has, however, consulted a knowled to the wiser than the law. He has, however, consulted a knowled.

I intended to say something in this letter of Salem and Marion county, as they look in the fresh dress and under the new impulses of eprhystime, but that I will put off this to-morrow.
